LifeSize Learning Exchange (LLX)

Learn. Ask. Create.

None of us is as smart as ALL of US!

Sometimes, the quickest way to learn something new is to learn it with someone else. At LifeSize Education Services we've embraced the fact that we may not know everything. We believe that the best way to share information, tips and tricks, FAQ's, and updates about LifeSize products and solutions is to ask the LifeSize community of experts. That is why we developed the LifeSize Learning Exchange (LLX), a collaborative online social learning environment that provides an interactive platform for community members (aka: LLX'ers) to easily review and share information about LifeSize products, best practices, and solutions.

A valued resource for LifeSize customers, partners, and end users alike, the LLX gives members direct access to LifeSize experts to ask questions, learn from, and even follow. Members are encouraged to share their expertise, initiate discussions, upload videos, and more. And because the LLX is also available via a mobile application, members can access the content they need whenever they want.

Learn what you want, when you want.

In a perfect world, people would consume information exactly when we want them to. But because we know we can't align the stars to create learning perfection, we give you the option to learn about the topics that matter to you most, when you want.

One of the great benefits of the LLX is that you get to hear and learn from other real people about what they have found interesting or discovered about LifeSize products and solutions. No marketing fluff here – just honest-to-goodness information that you can use. As an added bonus, this content is always available, searchable, and sharable, just in case you want to review in the future. Plus, the LLX mobile application makes your learning content available to take with you while you're on the go.

Ask, ask, and ask some more.

We live by the motto that there are no dumb questions in the LLX. After all, its reason for existence is to provide you a place where you can learn everything you want to know about LifeSize products and solutions. In fact, we welcome questions so much that we reward LLX'ers with cool prizes for asking questions, and for answering them, too.

Create for the greater good.

Everyone has something valuable to contribute, and yes, that includes you. Funny enough, although we live in the "Information Age" and think we can find out about anything we want online, less than 10% of the population has ever posted a comment online, let alone uploaded a video or slideshow or told a story. Imagine the possibilities if everyone could share bits of their knowledge for the greater good! We encourage LLX'ers to embrace their inner teacher by sharing their LifeSize tips and tricks, passions, and more.

The Bells and Whistles

Accessible

Our simple single log-in process makes access to your LLX quick and easy from your desk or mobile device.

Ask the Experts

A team of LifeSize product experts is always available to respond to questions, just in case the other LLX'ers are in nap mode.

Content Creation

Is made simple with easy-to-use, built-in multimedia authoring tools which help you share your knowledge quickly and without hassle.

FAQs

Questions that come up frequently are categorized into our Frequently Asked section so that they are easy to find and quickly accessible.

Featured and Popular Posts

Content that is categorized as most relevant to you will appear in the Featured or Popular boxes on the main page of your LLX.

Notification Options

Edit your user preferences for notification about LifeSize products and solutions relevant to you.

Search Capabilities

The LLX search function brings up related content, questions, and commentary specific to your inquiry.

User Profiles

Share tidbits about yourself and learn more about the other LLX'ers who are in your community.

Become an LLX'er

Are you ready to learn, share your expertise, and/or ask questions about LifeSize products and solutions? Sounds like you're ready to become an LLX'er! But before you can become an LLX'er we'll need to test your LifeSize expertise and validate it by bestowing upon you either a LifeSize Certified Sales Professional (LCSP), LifeSize Certified Sales Expert (LCSE) or LifeSize Certified Technical Expert (LCTE) accreditation. Once you earn your LCSP, LCSE or LCTE you will be invited to join the LLX most applicable to you.

The Sales LLX

For those who sell LifeSize products and solutions.

The Technical LLX

For those who install, configure, and maintain LifeSize products and solutions.
